

BY GRACE I'M SAVED

Though I fall from the highest mountain
I shall not be afraid
Though I sink to the depths of the ocean
I shall not fear
I will walk with an unveiled face
Beneath the light of your grace
Though I'm unworthy I am counted as one of your own

*By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
To take your love from me*

Though the cries of battle rage around my soul
And the stormy weather beats against my skin
I'll not fear the arrows of day, 'nor the terrors of night
For I know this, the Lord is my shield at my side

*By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
To take your love from me
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do to take your love*

Though I'm unworthy of His love, this freely given gift
Was bought at such a cost that I may live

*By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
To take your love from me
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
By grace I'm saved, nothing can I do
To take your love from me, from me*
