

GLORY TO GOD

When I was young I was told a story true
Upon a white Christmas, 'bout the first Christmas
How a star dragged its tail behind the clouds
Upon a white Christmas, 'bout the first Christmas
Glory shone around, glory shone around

Shepherds were staying up late that night
Keeping their eyes on sheep
When suddenly an angel's light
Filled the place where they tried to sleep
He said peace and goodwill to all you men
I bring you glad tidings from Bethlehem

*He sang hallelujah, hallelujah
Don't you know, Christ is born today in a stable bare*

Some wise men from far away
Saw the light in the sky and decided to leave that day
For the place where they would find
A little boy lying in a manger bed
Beneath the starry sky of Bethlehem
Where the angels sang

*Hallelujah, hallelujah
Don't you know, Christ is born today in a stable bare
Hallelujah, hallelujah, peace and goodwill to all men
And glory to God in the highest*

On a dark day at Calvary a red sun took the sky
And shone upon a barren tree
With a man nailed to its side
He said peace and goodwill to all you men
I came to die that you might live again

*The angels cried hallelujah, hallelujah
Don't you know, Christ died today that you might live again
Hallelujah, hallelujah, peace and goodwill to all men
And glory to God in the highest*

On another day not far away the same sun took the sky
And shone upon an empty grave
With an angel standing by
He said peace and goodwill to all you men
The man you came to find, He rose again

*And he sang hallelujah, hallelujah
Don't you know, Christ, He rose again
And now the tomb is bare, hallelujah, hallelujah
Peace and goodwill to all men, Glory to God*

*So we sing hallelujah, hallelujah
For we know Christ, He came to die that we might live again
We cry hallelujah, hallelujah
Peace and goodwill to all men
And glory to God in the highest, glory shone around*

© Melissa Hubert 2012. All rights reserved