

WHO YOU ARE

Silver lining, diamonds in the sand
Mountains made of fire, electricity in the sky
Who designed?

Wastelands of snow, forests filled with life
A wolf's cry on the wind, a nightingale's lullaby
Who designed?

*I want to know, I want to know
Who gave the clouds a silver line
Who told the moon when it was time
To come from behind his curtain and dance across the sky
Who scattered ripples on the stream
Thought that grass looked better green
Who wrote perfection on each heart and on each smile
Do we know who you are?*

A whisper on the breeze, roaring in a gale
Galaxies collide, in a newborn's cry
Who designed?

*I want to know, I want to know
Who brought the clouds to bring me shade
Fashioned the sun to kiss my face
Who thought that rainbows and the rain were a perfect pair
Who first waved at the sea, gave the lion his majesty
Who wrote perfection on each heart and on each smile
Do we know who you are?*

Thorns on a rose, joy in a smile
Whirling fireflies, love at first sight
Who designed?

*Who mingled sorrow with our tears
Spins the earth throughout the years
Who knew that music could bring joy to every heart
And who saw that poetry could rhyme
Who paints the sunsets every night
Who drummed the first heartbeat and breathed us into life
Do we know who you are?*
